Hi guys,

Sorry I haven't been posting anything new for a little bit but I'm back. I just got some new (really old) pictures that I will start scanning tomorrow and post them as soon as I can. These are classics. I think we have something for everyone going up. If you have any pictures you would like to share just send them along and I will put them up for all to enjoy.

Anybody try Cousin Catherine's recipes yet? I can still see the pure delight on Uncle Riley's face as he ate his drunkin' chicken with the jelly still on the bird. Wow, those were the good old days. We must have some family recipes out there waiting to be shared. Just drop me a line and I will get it out there so everyone can enjoy.

Hope you all have been following Lisa's blog about Skeet. The link is still on this page if you want to get caught up.

After a long journey cross country, My aunt Loretta was buried this past Wednesday at Cambridge City Cemetary. We also had an aquaintance of ours lose his 10 year old son on Halloween night when a gust of wind knocked down a tree and it landed on him. A life cut short and a family that just can't understand why. It is so sad.

That's it for tonight.

Bill
